Issue

Has Wiley failed to establish that the district court abused its discretion by imposing a 15-year fixed sentence upon his guilty plea to attempted murder in the first degree?

Wiley Has Failed To Establish That The District Court Abused Its Sentencing Discretion

Wiley (who was on parole in California) and his girlfriend, Jessica Brown, devised a plan to kill Brown's stepfather, Eric. (R., pp.8-9; PSI, pp.3-4, 14.) Wiley and Brown drove from California to Idaho, stopping along the way to purchase ammunition at a sporting goods store in Pocatello, Idaho. (R., p.9; PSI, pp.4, 14.) Upon arriving in Rexburg, Idaho, Wiley and Brown got a room at a local motel. (R., p.9; PSI, pp.4, 14.) Wiley subsequently drove Brown's vehicle to her mother's and stepfather's home, lured Eric out of the house under the guise of asking for directions, and then shot Eric in the shoulder with a .380 caliber handgun, causing Eric to "spin around and land face first in the snow." (R., pp.8-9; PSI, p.3.) Wiley then shot Eric in the back of the head and fled the scene. (R., p.8; PSI, pp.3, 14.)

The state charged Wiley with attempted murder in the first degree, unlawful possession of a firearm, and conspiracy to commit murder in the first degree. (R., pp.50-51, 109-11.) Pursuant to a plea agreement, Wiley pled guilty to attempted murder in the first degree and the state agreed to dismiss the remaining charges and to not file a persistent violator enhancement. (R., pp.171-72.) The district court imposed a sentence of 15 years fixed. (R., pp.190-92.) Wiley filed a notice of appeal timely from the judgment of conviction. (R., pp.206-09.)

Wiley asserts his sentence is excessive in light of his age, claim that he may have been "manipulated" by his girlfriend, and because he believes a lesser sentence will achieve the goals of sentencing. (Appellant's brief, pp.5-6.) The record supports the sentence imposed.

The length of a sentence is reviewed under an abuse of discretion standard considering the defendant's entire sentence. State v. Oliver, 144 Idaho 722, 726, 170 P.3d 387, 391 (2007) (citing State v. Strand, 137 Idaho 457, 460, 50 P.3d 472, 475 (2002); State v. Huffman, 144 Idaho 201, 159 P.3d 838 (2007)). It is presumed that the fixed portion of the sentence will be the defendant's probable term of confinement. Id. (citing State v. Trevino, 132 Idaho 888, 980 P.2d 552 (1999)). Where a sentence is within statutory limits, the appellant bears the burden of demonstrating that it is a clear abuse of discretion. State v. Baker, 136 Idaho 576, 577, 38 P.3d 614, 615 (2001) (citing State v. Lundquist, 134 Idaho 831, 11 P.3d 27 (2000)). To carry this burden the appellant must show that the sentence is excessive under any reasonable view of the facts. Baker, 136 Idaho at 577, 38 P.3d at 615. A sentence is reasonable, however, if it appears necessary to achieve the primary objective of protecting society or any of the related sentencing goals of deterrence, rehabilitation or retribution. Id.

The maximum prison sentence for attempted first degree murder is 15 years. I.C. §§ 18-306(1), -4004. The district court imposed a sentence of 15 years fixed, which falls within the statutory guidelines. (R., pp.190-92.) At sentencing, the district court articulated the correct legal standards applicable to its decision and also set forth in detail its reasons for imposing Wiley's sentence. (2/24/15 Tr., p.36, L.17 – p.51, L.14.) The state submits that Wiley has failed to establish an abuse of discretion, for reasons more fully set forth in the attached excerpt of the sentencing hearing transcript, which the state adopts as its argument on appeal. (Appendix A.)

Conclusion

The state respectfully requests this Court to affirm Wiley's conviction and sentence.

APPENDIX A

33 1 coming here with the intent to kill or intent to 2 commit a murder, should know, the word should get 3 out, that our courts take this very seriously, that 4 these would be killers will be caught and will be 5 sentenced to the maximum, your Honor, in Idaho. 6 Rehabilitation potential. I believe this 7 defendant has zero rehabilitation potential, your 8 Honor. He's shown no remorse, and has not cooperated 9 with the State. 10 And now for punishment. When the 11 defendant pled guilty before this Court, your Honor, 12 he indicated, and I've listened to the recording many 13 times: "I intended to murder." So the punishment, 14 your Honor, that this Court invokes must reflect the 15 very high value that we, as an American society, 16 place on the sanctity of human life. 17 So with these considerations in mind, 18 your Honor, the State is recommending, and I know we 19 can only recommend, the Court will make the final 20 decision, but we're recommending a maximum fixed 21 sentence of 15 years, a maximum fine of $25,000, and 22 payment of full restitution. 23 Thank you, your Honor. 24 THE COURT: Thank you, Mr. Lewles. 25 Mr. Wiley, before I determine what your	35 1 I have one question for you, and you don't have to 2 answer it if you don't want to, but let me just ask 3 it: 4 I know you haven't said very much about 5 this case, but you did make a brief comment in your 6 presentence investigation when you were asked why you 7 committed the crime, and you gave me an answer -- you 8 gave the presentence investigator an answer which I 9 don't understand. The answer you gave to why was, 10 "To protect my family." 11 And you don't have to answer this if you 12 don't want to, I'll let you visit with your attorney 13 about it, but it would be helpful for me to 14 understand what you meant when you said, "To protect 15 my family." 16 THE DEFENDANT: Personally, Judge, I was 17 being sarcastic to the lady. I really didn't want to 18 answer her questions, so, you know, I gave her that 19 statement. 20 THE COURT: So this had nothing to do 21 with your family? 22 THE DEFENDANT: Well, yes, it did. I 23 guess I just -- I guess I just didn't -- I don't 24 know, Judge, I didn't really mean to tell her that. 25 THE COURT: Again, I just want to make
34 1 sentence should be, you have an opportunity to 2 address the Court if you'd like to do that. It's 3 known as your right of allocution. And I know you've 4 been sitting there listening very closely to what 5 everyone has said about your case. This is your 6 turn. 7 Is there anything you think I need to 8 know in mitigation or about the facts about this case 9 that I don't know at this time that you'd like to 10 share with me? Is there anything you want to tell 11 me? 12 (Conferring). 13 THE DEFENDANT: No, sir. 14 THE COURT: Okay. And I understand if 15 you don't want to say anything, you don't have to, 16 but I want you to know that I have not finally made 17 up my mind yet, so if there's anything you think I 18 should know, I want to give you an opportunity to 19 tell me. Okay? 20 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, sir. 21 THE COURT: Is there anything you'd like 22 to say? 23 THE DEFENDANT: I'd just ask that you 24 have mercy on me, Judge Moeller. 25 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you, Mr. Wiley.	36 1 sure that if there's anything that mitigates this 2 offense that I don't know about, this is my last 3 chance to hear about it. 4 THE DEFENDANT: Yes. 5 THE COURT: So, again, if there was some 6 person you thought you were protecting or something, 7 which is why you did this, I need to know that. 8 THE DEFENDANT: No, Judge. 9 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much. 10 Are you satisfied with the representation 11 you've received from Mr. Archibald in this case? 12 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, sir. 13 THE COURT: And, counsel, is there any 14 reason why I shouldn't impose sentence at this time? 15 MR. LEWLES: No, your Honor. 16 MR. ARCHIBALD: No, your Honor. 17 THE COURT: Well, Mr. Wiley, based upon 18 your plea of guilty, it is the judgment of this Court 19 that you are, in fact, guilty of the crime of 20 attempted first degree murder, one of the most 21 serious crimes anyone can be guilty of. 22 I've had a chance to carefully review 23 this matter. First, let's talk a little bit about 24 your history. The presentence investigation shows 25 that you had a very troubled childhood, some juvenile

37 1 offenses. All of your offences, in fact, before this  2 occurred took place in Bakersfield, California.  3 As an adult, you had two felony charges,  4 one for participating in a criminal street gang, and  5 the other is a grand theft from a person. You were  6 sentenced to prison, served a short term, and then  7 were placed on parole. In the short time you were on  8 parole, you had four parole violations. And your  9 last parole violation is for absconding, and it was  10 while you were absconding that last parole violation,  11 that occurred ten days before the shooting in this  12 case. So I mean, it was as poor a record on parole  13 as you could possibly have. And then you commit an  14 attempted murder while on parole. It's just about as  15 bad a record as you can imagine.  16 No doubt because of that history, the  17 presentence investigator has recommended that I  18 incarcerate you.  19 I've reviewed carefully the other  20 recommendations before the Court, first the GAIN Core  21 Assessment. They both identify you with mild  22 Cannabis abuse, but no other serious problems. And  23 they conclude that you don't meet the criteria for  24 substance abuse treatment. And your mental health  25 review shows no symptoms of mental health problems.	39 1 sentence that I give in every case sends a message.  2 Certainly the worst message that I could possibly  3 send is that the Court condones this kind of  4 behavior, because clearly, I don't. I don't know  5 anyone who would. So my sentence has to have a  6 deterrent effect to discourage this kind of malicious  7 behavior in the future.  8 Next, I have to look at the possibility  9 of rehabilitation, and I'm not sure I quite agree  10 with Mr. Lewies there, because I think anyone is  11 capable of being rehabilitated, I think any person  12 has within themselves the ability to change. The  13 issue is whether or not they're willing to do that.  14 And I think where I would agree with Mr. Lewies is I  15 haven't seen any willingness in you to change, but  16 that can happen. That can happen in the Department  17 of Corrections. That can happen with counseling and  18 with perhaps just growing up and getting a little  19 wiser about life, about thinking what kind of life  20 you want to live.  21 Finally, there's punishment or  22 retribution for wrongdoing. There are some crimes  23 that are so serious that your debt to society can't  24 be paid by a simple fine or by placing you on  25 probation. There are some crimes that are so serious
38 1 However, they do recommend some treatment  2 due to the serious nature of this offense, and I  3 guess the thinking is that anyone who committed a  4 crime this serious could probably use some mental  5 health counseling.  6 I've carefully reviewed the objectives of  7 criminal sentencing that have been adopted by the  8 Idaho Supreme Court; Mr. Lewies went over those in  9 recitation. The first and foremost of those is my  10 job as a Judge is to protect society, and I take that  11 very seriously. And of all the crimes I need to  12 protect the society from, I would say murder probably  13 is number one.  14 I have to consider deterrence, too.  15 Whenever I do at sentencing, I have to deter you from  16 committing a crime like this again. I have to give  17 you a sentence serious enough that does that. Now,  18 you've already served some time in prison. You've  19 already been on parole, and that experience didn't  20 deter you, so I have to decide what else we can  21 possibly do.  22 As Mr. Lewies mentioned, deterrence  23 doesn't just apply to the defendant, it also applies  24 to society as a whole. And whether I intend to or  25 not, I need to recognize, and I do, that every	40 1 that prison is the appropriate consequence. And  2 that's outlined in Idaho Code 19-2521, which I'll  3 review in more detail here in a few minutes. But in  4 19-2521, it does set forth factors that I'm supposed  5 to weigh; some way in favor of prison, and some of  6 those factors weigh in favor of probation; those  7 would be called mitigating factors. The ones that  8 weigh in favor of prison would be known as  9 aggravating factors.  10 And there are mitigating and aggravating  11 factors present here. Let me review some of the  12 mitigating factors. First of all, I know, Mr. Wiley,  13 that you came from a very difficult background, and I  14 mention that not because it excuses your behavior, it  15 doesn't. Lots of people come from difficult  16 backgrounds and are able to make changes in their  17 life when they grow older. But your rough background  18 certainly puts this case into context. It helps me  19 understand how a young person can go so far astray.  20 You were raised by your maternal  21 grandmother. You had no contact with your biological  22 father. You had intermittent contact with your  23 mother because of issues that she had. So, again, it  24 was a far from ideal situation in a place where  25 likely you learned at an early age lessons that some

41 1 of us hopefully never learn in life. 2 The Court notes that you lost your 3 grandfather at 13, who you were close to, you lost 4 your mother to breast cancer five years later. So, 5 again, none of these things excuse your behavior, but 6 it helps me understand that I'm dealing with a person 7 here who was brought up in less than ideal 8 circumstances. And I am mindful of that. 9 I note that you have a limited education, 10 only 11 years of school. I note that you're very 11 young. Even now that I've outlined this horrific 12 criminal record that you have, you're still only 21 13 years old. That's just a very sad fact in this case. 14 It doesn't seem that substance abuse is a 15 major issue in this case, although you have been 16 involved with some marijuana, but it sounds like 17 you've been able to stay clean from that for about 18 the last three years. 19 THE DEFENDANT: Yes, sir. 20 THE COURT: That gives me some hope that 21 if you make up your mind to do something right, 22 you're capable. I certainly don't think you're 23 incapable of making good choices. You just haven't 24 illustrated a lot of examples to the Court of doing 25 that in your life.	43 1 crime. There was absolutely no provocation for this 2 crime. This, by the very definition, was a cold 3 blooded act. There was no reason why you were angry 4 with this person. There was no reason why you were 5 provoked by this person. Essentially, you shot a man 6 that you didn't know in the chest; and then when he 7 fell down face first in the snow, you shot him in the 8 back of the head. That sounds to me like an 9 execution style attempted killing. 10 And I don't know what happens on the 11 streets of Bakersfield, but that doesn't happen in 12 Island Park, Idaho without there being very serious 13 consequences. 14 This was a crime that just didn't happen 15 on the spur of the moment or in a moment of passion, 16 this looks like it was premeditated and planned for a 17 long time. There was the long drive from Bakersfield 18 to Island Park. There was stops to buy ammunition, 19 to secure housing, to locate the residence. There 20 was a lot of planning that went into this. 21 The Court has already noted in 22 aggravation, your record, which is considerable. 23 This is your third felony, sir. You're fortunate 24 that your attorney was able to negotiate such a good 25 deal for you. If you had been prosecuted as a
42 1 Your attorney said that you were likely a 2 pawn, and I think that's probably a good analysis. 3 The difficulty, though, with that analysis is who 4 were you a pawn of? And it's hard to say. I don't 5 have access to all the facts the attorneys do. Were 6 you a pawn of the co-defendant? Were you doing this 7 under her direction? Was this her idea and you were 8 sent up there to be the muscle for her to accomplish 9 this? Or were you sent there by someone that she was 10 associated with, someone you were a lieutenant to, or 11 were you basically a paid assassin? I have a lot of 12 questions that really aren't answered, and I suspect 13 you know the answers to all of those questions, but, 14 again, I'm not going to force you, and I have no 15 desire to force you to tell me those if you don't 16 want to. But, again, you make it very difficult, 17 because I do agree with your attorney, I think you're 18 a pawn, but I'm just not sure who you're a pawn of 19 and why. It would be helpful in analyzing the 20 mitigating factors if I knew that, but I don't. 21 Now, there are some very serious factors 22 in aggravation that can't be ignored. They are 23 compelling and, frankly, in many instances, they are 24 quite horrific. 25 First of all, there's the nature of the	44 1 persistent violator, this being your third felony, 2 you'd be facing five years minimum to life maximum. 3 If the prosecutor chose to charge you with a deadly 4 weapon enhancement, I'd be looking sentencing you to 5 up to 30 years instead of just 15 years. If your 6 attorney hadn't persuaded the prosecutor to let you 7 plead to attempted murder in the first degree instead 8 of conspiracy, you'd be facing a life sentence again. 9 So I don't know if you realize how lucky 10 you are, and I haven't even mentioned -- I don't know 11 whether it's fate or grace or just you're a really 12 bad aim, but it's a miracle that this man is alive 13 today after having been shot in the chest, and then 14 in the back of the head at very close range. A lot 15 of factors at play here that I just don't understand. 16 But the fact that you're here on an 17 attempted murder instead of a real murder has nothing 18 to do with you. It has everything to do with either 19 luck or fate or grace or whatever you want to call 20 it. But it had nothing to do with you or what was in 21 your heart, because your intent was to kill the man; 22 that's what you intended. And the reasons it didn't 23 happen have nothing to do with anything you had any 24 control over. 25 The Court also notes that this kind of

45 1 crime has a significant impact on the victim and the 2 victim's family. And although the victim appears to 3 have made a miraculous recovery, frankly, there's no 4 question that this kind of thing is going to cause 5 him pain and difficulty for the rest of his life, and 6 will likely cause his family pain and difficulty for 7 the rest of their lives; it will cause all of them -- 8 they will always be looking over their shoulder 9 worried and concerned. 10 So considering all of the evidence and 11 the recommendations of counsel, the Court is going to 12 sentence you today, not by the results of your 13 action, but by your actions and your intent, because 14 I think that's really what this case is about; it's 15 not the result, but it's about your actions and your 16 intent. 17 And so because of that, it's the judgment 18 of the Court that you should be sentenced to a total 19 unified sentence of 15 years in the United States 20 Penitentiary. And that will be a term of 15 years 21 fixed determinant, with no possibility of parole. 22 When you finish your 15 years in Idaho, I understand 23 there's also time in California that you'll have to 24 take care of, because you are still on parole out of 25 California for absconding.	47 1 style would diminish the seriousness of this action. 2 Imprisonment is an appropriate punishment and 3 deterrent to you, and an appropriate deterrent to the 4 community as a whole. And that you are a 5 professional criminal, multiple offender under the 6 statute. 7 I've looked very carefully, sir, under 8 Idaho Code 19-2521(2) for some mitigating factors 9 that might justify the Court rationing that sentence 10 down a little bit. I pleaded with you earlier in 11 this hearing that if there is any factors in 12 mitigation, to let me know. And there just are not 13 enough mitigating factors to convince the Court that 14 any less than 15 years would be just under the 15 circumstances. 16 The Court is going to impose a fine. I 17 recognize you don't have the ability to pay a $10,000 18 fine or $50,000 fine or $25,000 fine. None of those 19 fines, frankly, would reflect the serious nature of 20 the crime. I'm going to impose a $10,000 fine in 21 this matter, recognizing that it could be more; it 22 could be less. I doubt you have the ability to pay 23 no matter what I set, but $10,000 to you is the order 24 of the Court. 25 There will be court costs of $165.50
46 1 The Court will give you full credit for 2 your time served in this case. Let me make it clear 3 that I don't often -- in fact, I can't remember a 4 time since I've been a judge where I've given someone 5 a complete maximum sentence fixed, but I think the 6 facts in this case justify it. Again, this was a 7 cold blooded execution style shooting. It's one of 8 the worst possible crimes imaginable. And so 9 therefore I think, frankly, there might be some that 10 think 15 years isn't enough, and I have no answer for 11 those folks, I can only deal with the charges that 12 were presented to this Court. 13 I looked very carefully at 19-2521. 14 Section 1 of that statute sets forth factors weighing 15 in favor of prison. And I would note that having 16 reviewed those factors, I find that all of them are 17 present in this case. 18 The Court notes that there's an undue 19 risk, given your behavior on parole before, that if I 20 place you on probation, you'll commit another crime; 21 likely a serious crime. The Court notes that you do 22 need correctional treatment that would be the best 23 and most safely be provided in a correctional 24 institution. That any lesser crime than 15 years for 25 shooting a man in the back of the head execution	48 1 along with the Victim's Relief Fund payment. And I'm 2 also going to order you to pay full restitution. The 3 State of Idaho will have 45 days to submit a request 4 for restitution and outlining the basis for that 5 request, and if it appears appropriate, I will sign 6 it. 7 Mr. Archibald, you will have 30 days 8 after the Court signs the order of restitution if you 9 wish to request a hearing on that to make the State 10 prove their case on that. 11 You will be ordered to reimburse Fremont 12 County for the cost of your public defender services; 13 those amounts are to be determined. I know Mr. 14 Archibald has submitted regular billings to the 15 Court, and again, that will be an amount that will 16 continue through the end of his representation in 17 this matter. 18 Now, Mr. Wiley, you have a right to 19 appeal this decision. If you disagree with it for 20 any reason, you have 42 days to file an appeal. If 21 you can't afford an attorney to help you with the 22 appeal, I will appoint one at public expense to 23 represent you. Again, that's 42 days from today if 24 you wish to appeal my sentence. 25 You also have rights under Idaho Criminal

49 1 Rule 35. You have 120 days to file a motion if you  2 think the sentence was too harsh or too severe or  3 merely wish to seek further leniency. If there's  4 evidence that I don't know about, that I should have  5 heard at your sentencing, you would have an  6 opportunity under Rule 35 to have your attorney  7 present that to the Court.  8       Additionally, you have post conviction  9 relief rights that extend one year after your time  10 for appeal expires. You have, again, one year after  11 your appeal expires, so once the 42 days gets done,  12 you'll have one year after that to file a petition  13 for post conviction relief. I know your attorney is  14 well versed in those procedures, and if you have any  15 questions about those matters, you can visit with him  16 about those.  17       At this time, do you have any questions  18 for the Court about your sentence or your appellate  19 rights?  20       THE DEFENDANT: No, sir.  21       THE COURT: Okay, very well. Again, I  22 recognize 15 years is a strict sentence. On the  23 other hand, this isn't a case about -- It certainly  24 is different than a traumatic injury to a child or  25 death caused under the circumstances. Mr. Archibald,	51 1 without thinking about it very carefully, and I've  2 thought about this a long time. The one thing I will  3 say, as I've said before, that all people have a  4 potential to change. And you're given an opportunity  5 here to take advantage of the opportunities from the  6 Department of Corrections to change. I know last  7 time you went to prison, I think things got worse for  8 you. You either fell back into old patterns and made  9 poor decisions when you got out. That doesn't have  10 to happen again. But, again, your future from this  11 point on is in your hands, not the Court's hands.  12       I wish you the best of luck, and I hope  13 you'll make better decisions in the future. If  14 there's nothing else, we'll be in recess on this.  15       - - -  16       (Whereupon, the proceedings were adjourned.)  17  18  19  20  21  22  23  24  25
50 1 I just don't think that case is applicable. I think  2 this was an effort to shoot a man in cold blood and  3 murder him, and I think 15 years is a very  4 appropriate sentence for that kind of crime.  5       At this time I'm going to order that if  6 the defendant has not already done so, pursuant to  7 19-5506, that he submit a DNA sample and a right  8 thumb print impression for the State's records. The  9 attorneys will turn in their PSIs, unless they have a  10 need or if they're considering a Rule 35 motion or  11 other relief, I'll allow them to retain them if they  12 would like, otherwise they'll need to turn those in.  13 And I'm going to remand you at this time back to the  14 sheriff of Fremont County to await the transportation  15 with appropriate authorities to the Idaho Department  16 of Corrections.  17       Is there any other items I need to  18 address at this time? Mr. Lewies?  19       MR. LEWIES: No, your Honor. Thank you.  20       THE COURT: Mr. Archibald?  21       MR. ARCHIBALD: No, your Honor.  22       THE COURT: Okay. Well, that brings this  23 matter to a conclusion, then.  24       Mr. Wiley, I have some parting words. I  25 want you to know that I never send anyone to prison	52 1       REPORTER'S CERTIFICATE  2  3       I, Denise Novak, an Official Court  4 Reporter within and for the state of Idaho, do  5 hereby certify:  6  7       That I reported the proceedings in  8 the within entitled matter, and that the  9 within transcript is a true record of such  10 proceedings.  11  12       I further certify that I am not  13 related, by blood or marriage, to any of  14 the parties in this matter and that I am in  15 no way interested in the outcome of this  16 matter.  17  18       IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto  19 set my hand this 29th day of May, 2015.  20  21  22  23  24  25  Denise Novak  DENISE NOVAK
